INSANE CLERK SHOTS HIS WIFE AND HER MOTHER

Albert Frelich Kills Both Women at His Home Then Goes to Nearest Police Station and Gives Himself Up.

Following a family quarrel to-day, in which his wife and mother-in-law in turn participated, Alfred Frelich, a drug clerk, living at No. 1174 Putnam avenue, Brooklyn, shot and killed the two women, they dying instantly.

With marked composure the murderer walked from the house carrying the smoking revolver and to the Ralph avenue station, meeting Patrolman George Van Hetten.

"I just shot and killed my wife and mother-in-law," said Frelich, as he handed the instrument of death to the officer of the law.

Then Van Hetten noticed a wild gleam in Frelich's eyes. He was insane, whether caused by the commission of the act or preceding it, is not known. When taken to the Ralph avenue station house the man talked rationally. Fancie, the murdered wife of Frelich, was a pretty woman, and had recently celebrated her twenty-eighth birthday anniversary at a home party. She lived on the first floor of the Putnam avenue home, her mother occupying apartments on the second floor, directly overhead.

Employed at night as a clerk in the pharmacy attached to the Presbyterian Hospital, Frelich was home to-day. He entered the house late this afternoon and quarreled with his wife. She mentioned that her mother would be indignant if she had heard what he had stated. With that Frelich declared a would kill both his wife and her mother, and whipped out a revolver. Seated on Mrs. Frelich's lap was her one-year-old child. Alfred named after the father. Frelich fired three shots at his wife, two of which lodged in her body, one penetrating the heart. The third missile grazed the infant's head.

Killed Mother Next.

The wife screamed and fell dead, the child rolling from her arms. Mrs. Emma Hoelling, mother of the murderer, was in the room at the time. She rushed from her apartments overhead into the hallway to be met by Frelich with revolver in hand. Mrs. Hoelling, undismayed by the weapon, continued her rush down the stairs to go to her daughter's assistance. Frelich did not get her. He retreated into the room where his murdered wife lay and stepped over her body. Mrs. Hoelling, who was in the room at the time, rushed to the door and called for help. She was shot in the back by Frelich, who then fled. She died instantly. Mrs. Hoelling was fifty-eight years of age and lived with two other daughters in the upper apartment.

It is believed that Frelich has recently suffered from the murder of his wife, which is believed to have culminated in homicidal mania.

CARS JUMP TRACK, HIT SWITCH TOWER

A partially open switch on the New York Central tracks at One Hundred and Fifth street and East Avenue, three cars of the Troy local off of the track this afternoon, knocked over a switch tower, injuring two men who were in it and completely toppling up tracks on the road upward of two hours.

The engine and first three cars of the train went over the switch safely. The fourth car jumped the track taking the fifth car with it. The fourth car was almost overturned, and the fifth car, in swinging around, hit the tower. The towerman, Henry Kuhn, of Mount Vernon, and a switch repairer, John Michael, were badly injured. No one on the train was injured, although some of the passengers were badly shaken up. Ambulances from Lincoln and Lebanon hospitals were soon on the scene, but outside of the switchmen there was nobody for the surgeons to attend.

The engineer of the train is John Huxley, of Troy.

ROOSEVELT HIT BY TILLMAN ON CAMPAIGN FUNDS

President's Election Denial Recalled and Insurance Gifts Quoted.

TALKS OF PECKSNIFFS.

Gives Cleveland a Rap, Too, and Mentions McCall and McCurdy.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—The Senate passed the resolution of Senator Tillman calling on the Secretary of the Treasury for information as to whether reports of bank examiners showed whether or not national banks make contributions to political campaigns.

Mr. Tillman, in talking on his resolution to-day, conceded that the Secretary might not have the facts wanted, but he thought he ought to have. Incidentally, Mr. Tillman said that he had been informed that the Comptroller of the Currency has been investigating the subject of bank contributions with the view of instituting legal proceedings.

While urging the passage of the resolution Mr. Tillman quoted the charges made by Judge Parker in the last campaign concerning the Republican campaign contributions with the fact that Chairman Cortelyou had recently resigned from the office of Secretary of the Department of Commerce.

He also quoted the President's reply which he said was "red hot," and added that he would not be needed to elect the President.

Notwithstanding this fact he said that it had been shown that $100,000 had been contributed for that purpose—that is, of the newspaper men may be believed, "and," he added, "they are about as reliable as any other class."

He also made reference to the charge that large expenditures had been made by the Democrats in the Cleveland campaign, saying it would have been for the purpose of controlling the Cleveland election. Mr. Bailey said he had not supposed that the President would make a second recommendation on the subject of punishing campaign contributors until the money had been returned.

"Ah, Mr. President," responded Mr. Tillman, "all the turkeys and pecksniffs are not dead yet, although would not for a moment be understood as comparing our strenuous opponent of the White House with those characters. What we want is results and those we do not seem to have procured so far."

Quoting the testimony of Senator Platt before the New York committee, Mr. Tillman congratulated the Senator upon his straightforwardness.

"There was no dodging," he said, "and I do not believe that a dollar of the money ever struck his fingers."

He added his conviction, however, that the contributions had had the effect of controlling the New York Legislature in the interest of the insurance companies.

Mr. Tillman said that the Comptroller has means of getting the information which others have not and added that if he would push in his probe he could make discoveries that are worth while."

He added that his reason for requesting the information is found in a resolution concerning the insurance companies.

"It has been shown by the testimony of a confession of a member of the insurance corporations have been making annual donations to the Republican party with the understanding that they should be protected from adverse legislation at Albany."

He went on to say that such revelations were not agreeable.

"I am the holder of a small policy in one of the Mutuals," he said, "and I don't like to have my dividends cut down in order to give Mr. McCurdy and his sisters, his cousins, and his sons $75,000 each."

Mr. Bailey asked whether the insurance company contributions to the Republican National Committee had been returned to the donors.

"I understand," replied Mr. Tillman, "that the President was going to have Mr. Cortelyou return them, but I don't know whether he has done so. I know that I haven't got my share."

Mr. Spooner—Is yours a life policy?

Mr. Tillman—It is, not yet time to cash in on it.

Mr. Tillman replied that it was divided and not the policy itself that he wanted paid.

"I," he said, "were pitifully well, while McCurdy has been getting fat without doing anything."

Mr. Tillman closed with an appeal for a vigorous investigation, saying that such a course was necessary to restore the confidence of the public.

The resolution was adopted without opposition.

WATERCRESS BRINGS $71,000 IN FIGHT OF MILLIONAIRES

James B. Haggin Gets Great Thoroughbred Sire After Lively Bidding Contest with Harry Payne Whitney.

BY FRANK W. THORP.

Harry Payne Whitney and J. B. Haggin, the founder of Rancho del Paso, fought a thrilling battle for possession of the great stallion Watercress at the Haggin sale of thoroughbreds in Van Tassel & Kearney's horse auction rooms this afternoon. The weapons were bids of $10,000, $5,000 and $1,000 and Mr. Haggin won, retaining the king of his stud for $71,000.

Watercress was the star of the sale and nearly every millionaire in New York who takes an interest in thoroughbreds had gathered for the purpose of either bidding on him or looking at the bidding. It had been reported that Mr. Haggin wanted to save this great animal for his Elmendorf Stud in Kentucky and would go to any length to retain possession of him.

The sire of Watercress, Watercolor, Nasturium, Reliable and other wonders of the turf was led out for the inspection of a critical and friendly audience. Harry Payne Whitney and his brother, Payne Whitney, were together at the side of the sale ring. Mr. Haggin, with his beautiful young wife, sat on the auctioneer's platform. E. C. Jewett, F. R. Hitchcock, Jack Pollanabee and Andrew Miller sat with the Whittneys. John Mackay, Mr. Haggin and his daughter, sat in the gallery. Lillian Barnes Allen, to whom Pierre Lorillard left his stock farm at New Jersey, occupied a seat in the gallery. Jack Joyner, Sidney Paget and owners and breeders by the score packed the enclosure.

There was a murmur of admiration as the crowd as "Watercress" was paraded up and down in front of the auctioneer. He was in magnificent form and from his proud bearing it appeared that he realized what an important part he was playing in the proceedings.

$10,000 the Opener.

Nobody knew just who would attempt to get the stallion from Mr. Haggin, and all waited in tense expectancy for the first bid. It came from Mr. Whitney, and was for $10,000. With the shadow of a smile on his rugged face Mr. Haggin bid $20,000. In a few moments the bidding had run up to $50,000, and Mr. Whitney, with a shake of his head, seemed to retire from the contest.

But he nodded at Harry Vingt, who was seated on the platform alongside Mr. Haggin, and Mr. Vingt immediately bid $51,000. Mr. Haggin made it $52,000. Mr. Whitney nodded again and Mr. Vingt bid $53,000. By $1,000 bids the price of the horse was run up to $64,000. The suppressed excitement of the assemblage could be felt. Tom Sharkey, seated on the corner of the platform, had been opening his eyes wider at every bid, and it looked as though they were about to pop out of his head. The coolest man in the room was Mr. Haggin. He bid $65,000.

he saw the raise and came back. There was another raise. Mr. Haggin made it $66,000. Mr. Vingt bid $70,000. Like a flash Mr. Haggin nodded his $71,000 raise and Mr. Vingt looked inquiringly at Mr. Whitney. The young millionaire was through and Watercress will continue to be the property of J. B. Haggin.

Star Ruby, the sire of Africander, which as champion three-year-old earned more than $70,000, was also bought in by Mr. Haggin, the price being $30,000.

The bidding started at $10,000 offered by Mr. Haggin. De Coursey Forbes, acting for James R. Keene, came back $22,000. This was the only outside bid. Mr. Haggin then said $30,000, and Star Ruby was knocked down to him.

Imported Goldfinch also went to Mr. Haggin for $10,000. Harry Payne Whitney bid as high as $15,000 and then stopped. Goldfinch was not at the sale. He is in California, but it was guaranteed that he would be delivered good and sound.

Last of Turf Farm.

The sale of these stallions to-day scatters to the four winds, so to speak, the greatest of all breeding establishments. These great stallions and mares were put upon the market only because of a partnership between James B. Haggin and Lloyd Tevis. These gentlemen are brothers-in-law. The sale is a dissolution of copartnership.

Mr. Haggin always had great faith in California, as an ideal State for breeding. He has come back to Kentucky, however, and his establishment at Elmendorf is probably the largest in that great horse State.

It is an error to say that Mr. Haggin intends retiring from the breeding industry. He has offered none of his Elmendorf stock at auction, and many of the mares at the present sale have been bid in because Mr. Haggin wanted them at Elmendorf.

Horses Earned Thousands.

Rancho del Paso was established in the eighties. The first sale of yearlings numbered sixty-four. This increased year by year until in 1901 there were 241 yearlings catalogued which sold for a total of $224,000. A dozen of these yearlings earned in 1902 and 1903 more than a quarter of a million dollars. Rancho del Paso since its establishment has earned hundreds of thousands of dollars. Probably millions would be more accurate. But the expenses have been enormous also.

BOOKMAKER DROP OUT OF CITY PARK

Association Lowers Steeplechase Jumps to Guard Against Accidents.

(Special to The Evening World.)

CITY PARK RACE TRACK, NEW ORLEANS, La., Dec. 7.—The explosion of a gasoline stove in the restaurant at City Park early this forenoon served to create great excitement among the followers of this track. The explosion occurred about noon, when one of the waiters attempted to refill the can. Cause of the explosion has not been determined and the management has a number of special officers investigating what caused the fire.

The blaze did not do much damage, as a number of horsemen, who were near, lent their assistance, and with the aid of the employees they succeeded in extinguishing the blaze before it gained any headway.

Only thirteen books cut in at to-day's drawing, which is four less than last business yesterday. The cause of lowering the number of books was not an accident, but a means and but a faithful few appeared when the bugle called the horses to the post in the evening race.
